REPORT TO THE COMMUNITY 2004 PENINSULA COLLEGE
Have you ever taken a class at Peninsula College? If you haven’t, chances are someone close to you has. Each year, we serve more than 7,000 people through a variety of credit and noncredit courses in Port Angeles, Forks, Port Townsend, Sequim, Clallam Bay, Quilcene, and other sites on the Olympic Peninsula.

Individuals who enroll in these courses do so for a variety of reasons. Some are seeking training that will help prepare them for their first career. Others are looking for new career opportunities. Many are taking transfer courses so they can earn B.A. or B.S. degrees, while others need help with basic reading, writing, and language skills. Still others come to Peninsula College to take courses simply for the love of learning or to participate in our many cultural events and activities.

But whatever your reason for coming, Peninsula College provides a warm and welcoming atmosphere and an environment devoted to helping you reach your goals and realize your dreams. Our highly trained faculty and staff work together to ensure that we remain student centered and that the teaching and learning process remains at the center of all we do.

And each year, new partnerships and initiatives further enhance Peninsula College’s ability to serve our local communities and provide even more possibilities for higher education opportunities right here on the peninsula.

As you read through our annual report, you’ll sense the spirit of excitement and vibrancy that permeates Peninsula College and our dedication to learning and teaching, attributes that are the hallmarks of Peninsula College in our fifth decade of service.

As we look to the future, we are grateful for your support. And we invite you to join us in building an even better, brighter future for Peninsula College and the peninsula.

Dr. Thomas Keegan, President, Peninsula College
Dr. Mary Wegmann, President, Peninsula College Foundation
Strategic Goals

Peninsula College’s Strategic Goals form the core of the college’s Strategic Plan, which articulates the college’s vision for the future and helps to ensure the connection between resource allocation and strategic initiatives. We do so by —

- Providing a comprehensive program of instruction that supports transfer, professional/technical, basic and developmental skills, and continuing education learning opportunities for all residents of the North Olympic Peninsula.
- Providing comprehensive student support services that facilitate student success.
- Providing administrative services that support teaching and learning.
- Promoting an awareness and respect for diversity.
- Promoting cultural enrichment for the college and community.
- Fostering partnerships that support the needs of the community.

Our Guiding Principles

The college community is guided by the following guiding principles:

- The teaching/learning process is at the center of the mission of Peninsula College.
- Members of the campus community will treat each other with mutual respect and dignity.
- Members of the campus community will be open and honest in their communications.
- Members of the campus community will promote a positive work environment and avoid adversarial relationships.
- Each member of the campus community shall act ethically and with integrity.
- The campus will engage in collaborative decision-making processes.

Strengthening Community Connections

Partnering with community organizations and other institutions of higher education has resulted in several new initiatives that are keeping learning and teaching at the center of Peninsula College’s efforts. This past year, we strengthened our community connections in several important ways. We:

- Established the Applied Environmental Technologies Center of Excellence by working in collaboration with several local entities, including the Clallam County Economic Development Council and private businesses. The Center provides education, training, and hands-on research/internship opportunities for students, entry-level workers, and professionals in three industry clusters. The areas include Natural Resources Management, the application of Biotechnology across disciplines, and the Marine Trades.

  The local community donated $100,000, which was matched by $100,000 through the Washington State Board for Community and Technical Colleges.

- Collaborated with the North Olympic Peninsula Skills Center and Business Incubator Network to provide training programs for young people, the workforce, and growing local businesses. College-level programs currently being taught at the Skills Center include Video Production and Medical Assistant courses.

- Partnered with the Workforce Development Council to provide services to expand the use of technology in the Medical Assistant Program and to provide training as part of the WorkSource Affiliate Site.

- Continued to work with the Museum and Arts Center of Sequim-Dungeness Valley to present classes on Olympic Peninsula History.
Building Higher Education Linkages

Peninsula College is collaborating with several four-year colleges and universities to provide opportunities for local residents to earn bachelor degrees on the peninsula. Our collaborations include:

- Western Washington University. A new partnership with Western Washington University’s award-winning Huxley College of the Environment allows peninsula residents to earn their B.A and B.S. degrees on the Peninsula College campus without having to leave the area or face long commutes to Bellingham. The program will commence with the start of the 2004 fall quarter. It is also possible to earn a bachelor’s degree in education.

- City University. Olympic Peninsula residents can earn a bachelor’s degree in education.

- University of Washington—Bothell. Individuals can earn a bachelor’s degree in nursing.

- Washington State University. Residents can earn 11 different degrees via distance learning.

- East Jefferson Education Consortium. Individuals can pursue a variety of degree opportunities through the 12 universities and educational organizations that have partnered with Peninsula College in this consortium. The partnering entities, in addition to Peninsula College, include Centrum Center for the Arts, Chapman University Bangor Campus, City University, Port Townsend Marine Science Center, Southern Illinois University Program in Workforce Education and Development offered at Bangor, University of Washington, Washington State University, and Western Washington University.

Changing Lives Through Teaching

At Peninsula College, student success is more than just a buzzword or a nice sounding catch phrase. It’s our mission, and we know that our faculty have the potential to not only change lives, but to empower men and women to become more than they think they can possibly be. This past year we enhanced our already strong teaching faculty when we:

- Conducted searches for eight faculty tenure-track positions in Biology, Computer Education, English, History, Mathematics, Nursing, and Spanish Life and Culture and for two faculty directors for the Applied Environmental Technologies Center of Excellence.

- Granted tenure to Mathematics Instructor Randy Anderson.

- Dedicated funds to add four new tenure-track positions in 2005.

- Implemented a Professional Development fund for faculty to support scholarly activity.
Making a Strong College Curriculum Even Stronger

This past year, Peninsula College enhanced a strong curriculum by making several important changes. We:

- Started a new Directed Studies curriculum by offering a course on the Native Arts of the Coastal Pacific Northwest during the 2004 spring quarter.
- Provided students an opportunity to get “real world” anthropological experience in our video-based Cultural Anthropology course by partnering with Olympic National Park on research projects with park personnel. The projects were centered around the peninsula’s Native American tribes.
- Developed a new course, Special Topics in Tropical Biology, for fall 2004. The course includes a twenty-three day trip to Costa Rica to study rainforest habitats and work on research projects with professional ecologists, zoologists, botanists, and microbiologists.
- Added a Marketing Associate of Applied Science degree in our Business Administration Program.
- Created eleven Associate of Applied Science-Transfer options.
- Expanded our former Health Care Assistant Program into a four-quarter Medical Assistant Program.
- Revised our Multimedia Program to include graphic design and web design options.
- Established a degree articulation agreement between Peninsula College’s Surveying/Geomatics Technology Program and the Oregon Institute of Technology’s bachelor’s degree in Geomatics.
- Offered more night classes to meet the needs of working students.

Supporting Our Students

At Peninsula College we believe student support is critical to success, whether it be in the classroom, in the counseling we provide, or in the athletic arena. This year, we enhanced our student support services when we:

- Opened a new Student Services Center that incorporates all of our student services under one roof, creating a one-stop center for students who are coming to our campus for the first time or returning. Offices and services include Admissions, Registration, Financial Aid, Student Development (counseling), International Student Office, Career Services, expanded testing facilities, and a Learning Center focusing on providing instructional support services in writing and tutoring.
- Secured a TRIO Dissemination Grant that uses best practices modeled by other TRIO programs to equip first-generation and low-income students with the tools and skills necessary to promote academic success.
- Supported our athletics program and celebrated our winning Pirates mens’ basketball team, which captured first place in the Northwest Athletic Association of Community Colleges Northern Division and third overall in the NWAACC Tournament.
Student Success

Our greatest successes are found in the personal stories of growth and achievement of our students, and each story is as different as the person telling it. People choose Peninsula College for many reasons. Discover a few of them below, and maybe they will inspire you or someone you know to take the plunge and come to Peninsula College to fulfill a dream, get a new start on life, or just get started on a life path.

Rebekah Gentry and Justin Martens (right) are members of the All-Washington Academic Team and were awarded scholarships by Key Bank. Gentry will be graduating from Peninsula College with honors this spring. Martens will also graduate from PC this spring. He is the first member of his family to receive a college degree. Both plan to continue their educations this fall and earn their baccalaureate degrees.

Shani Funkhouser of Port Townsend is a single working mother with two children who returned to college through the WorkFirst program. During the past year, she has been an educational aide in ABE in Port Townsend and also the site’s book-sales person. She will graduate this June and plans to transfer to Central Washington University this fall to earn her B.A.

Alumnus Meagan Shea is a former Running Start student who earned her A.A. degree at Peninsula College. She will graduate from Western Washington University in March of 2005 and plans to pursue a master’s degree in Student Personnel Administration and work in higher education student services.

Shirley Marchbanks has wanted to earn a college degree for several years, but never had the opportunity to do so until recently. Now, in her seventies, that dream is closer to becoming a reality. She has only a few courses left to take, and she’s determined to finish.

Alumnus Angela Cisneros (below) first came to Peninsula College to take English as a Second Language courses and earn her GED. When she accomplished these goals, she enrolled in our Administrative Office Systems program and earned an A.A.S. degree. Today, she is working in her chosen field with the Northwest Eye Surgeons in Sequim.

Alumnus Michael DeVoney got his start here at Peninsula College and went on to earn a B.S. from Bastyr University, an M.S. from Clayton College of Natural Health, and an M.S. from Phoenix Institute of Herbal Medicine and Acupuncture. Today, he and his wife Heather Horne, who is also a PC alum, own their own successful business in Port Angeles.
Celebrating the Arts

Peninsula College actively supports the arts both on and off campus because we believe that an understanding and appreciation of the arts is an essential component of a liberal education and that the individual who appreciates the arts is a better world citizen. To this end, during the 2003-2004 academic year, we:

- Supported the debut of an original musical in two acts by college staff member Patty McManus. The play, The Red Stone, was backed by the Associated Student Council and was performed in the college’s Little Theater during March 2004.
- Presented an all-student production of Eve Ensler’s The Vagina Monologues in observance of V-Day and donated $5,000 to the Healthy Families of Clallam County from the revenues the production earned. More than 600 community members saw the play over a three-night run, which was made possible by the 75-plus volunteers who donated in excess of 12,000 hours of personal time to ensure that the production was a success. In presenting this play, Peninsula College joined an elite group: We were one of only three community colleges in the state to stage the play, one of 15 colleges in Washington state, and one of 602 colleges worldwide.
- Collaborated with the Port Angeles Fine Arts Center in its observance of the 100th Anniversary of the center’s founder, Esther Barrows Webster, by hosting a satellite exhibition of her work in the college Art Gallery.
- Sponsored the return of the Sunday Afternoon Chamber Music Concert Series by the Peninsula Chamber Players after an absence of several years.
- Celebrated the college’s fourth Writer-in-Residence program with a three-day residence by Debra Magpie Earling, a member of the Confederated Salish and Kootenai tribes of the Flathead Indian Reservation.
- Supported our Peninsula College Music Department on a concert trip to perform with the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada.
- Observed the Thirtieth Anniversaries of Studium Generale and Foothills Writers Series with a special celebration.
- Celebrated the Fortieth Anniversary of Tidepools, the college’s literary journal.

Ensuring Our Future Through Planning and Funding

Peninsula College actively seeks alternative funding to help support new initiatives and sustain existing programming. During the 2003-2004 academic year we:

- Received a 2003-2005 biennial appropriation of $1.4 million from the State Capital budget. This will fund Phase One of a new Cultural Center for the college. It also provided the college’s share of the funding for the North Olympic Skills Center; allowed for miscellaneous capital repairs; and funded the predesign for a new Science and Technology Building, which the campus hopes to begin construction on in 2005.

Requested $35 million in the statewide 2005-2007 Capital Budget. The request would fund construction of the new Science and Technology Building, which is currently in the state’s funding queue. If approved, the request would also fund the design and construction of a major library renovation and addition and provide funds for Phase Two of the planned Cultural Center as well as local repairs for the campus.

Extension Sites

Peninsula College is dedicated to providing comprehensive services to everyone in its service district. Our expanding sites in Forks and Port Townsend demonstrate our commitment to helping all of the residents of the Olympic Peninsula to reach their full potential. A few examples of the many ways we serve the western and eastern most reaches of our district include:

Forks Extension Site

- Offering classes in Neah Bay via Interactive Television.
- Offering conversational Spanish in combination with ESL instruction.
- Partnering with the University of Washington Virtual Museum Project by locating a project manager onsite.
- Making it possible to earn an Associate of Arts degree without leaving Forks.

Port Townsend Extension Site

- Expanding our business classes for transfer students and community business people.
- Founding the Water Street Writers series, a once-a-month literary reading, open to all members of the community.
- Offering classes in Brinnon.
- Tapping community residents to offer a wide variety of Adult Special Interest classes.
FOUNDATION HIGHLIGHTS, 2003

The role of Peninsula College in the communities that it serves is truly profound. Providing for the educational needs and goals of individual students, actively partnering with business and industry leaders, providing targeted training for an ever-changing regional workforce, and bringing culturally enriching events and experiences to the community are just a few of the ways that this role is achieved.

The board and staff of the Peninsula College Foundation take great pride in their work of advancing the mission and impact of the college. Helping to make quality educational opportunities available to all who would seek them is our primary goal. This is accomplished in several ways, with scholarship support being perhaps the most direct.

Other important means to this end include providing funds for capital projects and for classroom equipment and technology; encouraging and supporting faculty in becoming the best that they can be for their students; and connecting generous contributors with worthwhile programs and cultural events that enrich not only the college curriculum but the life and vitality of our communities as well. This important and often life-changing work in our community is what the Peninsula College Foundation is all about.

Student Support

Many individuals and organizations contribute to scholarship funds that assist students in nearly every course of study offered at the college. Some of our scholarship recipients this year include:

Community Healthcare Initiative Scholars
- Kim McQuoid
- Jeremiah Shearer
- Summer Northern

First Federal Savings & Loan Academic Excellence Scholars
- John Gibson
- Ashley Reis
- Roman Pastukhov

Friberg English Studies Scholar
- Cristina Schumacher

Friberg General Academic Scholar
- Chris Reed

Frances “Jo” Leary Nursing Scholar
- Teresa Babboni

Doug Gilleland Automotive Technology Scholars
- Timothy Morris
- John Summers

John and Laura Hook Academic Incentive Award Scholar
- Donna Strean

James V. Jacobs Memorial Survey/Geomatics Scholars
- Richard Angelo
- Dina Shepherd
- Gregory Bivins
- Bill Vernon
- Jamie Rawlinson
- Jessica Wagner

John’s Scholars
- Teresa Babboni
- Melanie Deno

Pirate Booster Athletic Scholarships

These provided support to 35 student athletes during the 2003-2004 academic year, across the four intercollegiate sports of Men’s Soccer, Men’s and Women’s Basketball, and Women’s Softball.
Curriculum Enrichment

Foundation Grants for equipment and support for special programs enhanced the quality and diversity of the educational experience at Peninsula College again this year. We are pleased to have supported the following programs and projects.

Foundation Grants were awarded to:
- Ashland Shakespeare Festival Performance on campus
- The Elders Tell Their Stories, Video Oral History Project
- Faces of America Diversity Awareness Presentation
- Shakespeare Video Collection Purchase

The Writer-in-Residence Program

The Peninsula College Writer-in-Residence program was launched in 1999, inspired by a generous gift from Gunnar and Frances Fagerlund. Now in its fourth year, the program continues through the generosity of others as well, others whose commitment to supporting creativity in the literary arts inspires us once again. In 2003 the program welcomed Robert Michael Pyle (right), award-winning natural history writer, poet, and ecologist, to the college and community for a delightful series of workshops, readings, and events.

Facilities

Five capital projects were identified in 2003 for which the Foundation is currently seeking private or corporate support. These projects are significant components of the campus master plan, and it is our hope that they will resonate with the interests, passions, and aspirations of our generous contributors. We invite you to consider a gift that will enrich our college and community, now and far into the future. Naming and memorial opportunities exist in all areas. Please contact the Foundation for more information.

- Arboretum and Wetlands Interpretive Trail
- Art and Exhibit Gallery Enhancements
- Science and Computer Lab Equipment
- Theater Facility and Program Upgrades
- Northwest Cultural and Art Center
