JERIN FALKNER

Folk rock you will hate to love. Jerin Falkner is a guitar-playing singer/songwriter who writes clever melodies and catch lyrics. She released her first solo-acoustic LP "Alive" in the spring of 2004 while attending college. After talking with producer Jon Goff, Jerin moved to Seattle to record a fully-produced EP at Self-Adhesive Records. "Almost Completely Happy" contains six tracks that tell the story of a romantic tragedy from start to finish. The disc was scheduled to be released in the summer of 2006 and marked for national air-play in 2007.
